An's Heaven, also Anu's Heaven, Heaven of An or Heaven of Anu, is the name of Anuanna and Anukaiam by some, but it's the same thing. An's Heaven is considered as an important world inside sumerian neopaganism and anunnakism, often doing a lot of texts, books, drawings, memes and comics about An's Heaven, there's still a massive discussion if the An's Heaven was actually part of ancient sumerian paganism, but modern sumerian pagans actually believes that An's Heaven is an important world for modern sumerian paganism and include it inside their beliefs. An's Heaven is also considered as the capital of the Anunnaki Empire and as the most important world for the whole Anunnaki Empire by sumerian neopagans.

According to sumerian neopagans, An's Heaven was the first world to be created before the creation of Earth and it's located on the Divine dimension, referred by some as Ain Soph. An's Heaven has two forms, the planet one and the pure energy one, where the Anunnaki gods have bioextraphysical materialized bodies on the Planet while they exist in their pure energetic form on the pure energetic world or even both forms are connected between each other.

An's Heaven is considered as the capital of the Anunnaki Empire, and it's the heartland or heartplanet of Anunnaki, together with more 4-6 divine worlds that forms the core worlds of Anunnas at divine level.

The capital of An's Heaven is known as An's City, and it's well famous for being extremely organized and have a huge palace, known as An's Palace, that's where the all main Anunnaki gods and their families actually live, besides be the center of all political and economical decisions of An's Heaven and of Anunna Empire as well. The city also have big long wide streets, several blue and yellow buildings and for be divided in several districts, the Political-Divine District, the Civilian District, the Industrial District, the Technological-Scientific District, the Temple District and the Military district, and it also has a lot of forests and reserves, and there's a river that pass near the city as well.

The climate in An's Heaven is hot, in An's City the climate is similar to rainforest but having its own particular characteristics, An's Heaven also has big deserts and a big inland sea/lake where An's City is near it, despite there are a discussion if this big inland sea/lake has exit to the ocean of An's Heaven or not.

There are several other cities on An's Heaven that's where the Anunnas who aren't directly related to the gods or that aren't part of the big gods actually live in, the connection between the cities is made by some kind of advanced high speed rail that's really fast, but teleportation is also used as well, horses and car-like vehicles are also used in An's Heaven, despite trains, trams and high speed rails are more used by its inhabitants, there's also planes and spaceships in An's Heaven, but they are used only for transportation between planets and also for political and military purposes as well.

The society of An's Heaven is characterized by being non-hierarchical, or at least by being the less hierarchical as possible, and the functions there are divided by each one abilities, gifts and needs. Everyone has a house/sanctuary and everything they need in An's Heaven, private property doesn't exist in An's Heaven and everything there is on the system of familiar stewarship on there.

An's Heaven is characterized by being the less technological as possible, on the sense of showing their technologies, they are extremely advanced on bioextraphysical technologies, extraphysical technologies and on divine technologies and they use those technologies almost all the time, despite some of them prefer to use their powers than those technologies as well.

Some hypothesis about why there's almost none or even no archeological evidence for the existence of An's Heaven might be because Anunnas didn't want humanity to know a lot about it, or because almost all of them where destroyed or a mix of both. But even with that, a lot of people who believes on Anunnaki actually believes and support An's Heaven is real and it's part of Anunnaki world and identity as well.
